Larry Martin resides in New Jersey with his wife, Camille and two of his children. Larry and Camille love to spend winters here in Winter Park especially now that their daughter, Cathy, and her family with the newest additions – twins, Blaze and Daisy—live here. He is the CEO of AGO Insurance Software, Inc. Larry has Retinitis Pigmentosa, a condition where the night vision capability and peripheral vision are deteriorating. When Larry's vision started deteriorating approximately 17 years ago, his best friend, Gary, volunteered to guide Larry so he could continue to ski. Larry is now guided by Brad Washburn, who was an NSCD Competition Center athlete from 2002-2010. Brad was born without a fibula; when he was 11 months old his leg was amputated below his knee. In 2006 he was named to the US Disabled Paralympics team and traveled to Torino Italy to compete. In 2007 he was named to the US Disabled Team. For his first full year on the World Cup circuit, Brad finished with several top 10 finishes. After competing in the 2010 Paralympics in Vancouver, Brad decided to take a break from full-time race training to get married to Cynthia and enjoy their little girl Lucy.
